HAWAIIAN EVANGELICAL MEETING
BEST IN ASSOCIATION'S HISTORY

Attendance is Remarkable and Many Features Given; Singing Contests Interesting

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
HILO, July 7.—That the city of Hilo has witnessed the largest and most successful conference ever held by the Hawaiian Evangelical Association there can be no possible doubt. According to figures given out to the Star-Bulletin correspondent by Rev. Stephen L. Desha, pastor of the Haili church and moderator of the conference, there are over 400 delegates, and in all 625 delegates and members of the special choruses now in attendance at the 94th conference. The numbers alone would make it impossible to hold such a gathering in many places on the islands. Honolulu, of course, could handle such a large number of people for a week, but representatives of the Hawaiian Board, when asked if Kauai or Maui could take the conference in the near future, shook their heads and said it would be beyond the capacity of any one town on either island to do it. Hilo has welcomed not only this very unusual number of people, but over Sunday and Monday and in fact until late Tuesday practically as many more who came for the Fourth of July celebration. Tuesday probably was a record day in the history of the city in the numbers received by automobile, train and other conveyances. On Saturday over 1000 persons were fed on the church grounds at the close of the monster Sunday school exhibition, the like of which has never before been witnessed on this island, at least in the history of two generations.

On Thursday as soon as the Mauna Kea had landed her 520 passengers and the delegates had received their assignments, the record-breaking conference began. Not a flaw can be found in the program or the ample arrangements for the accommodation of the people.

The opening session found Rev. Stephen L. Desha in the chair as moderator. Rev. W. P. Pool as scribe and Rev. I. N. Nakila as assistant scribe. After the completion of the roll of delegates, Rev. George Laughton, pastor of the First Foreign church of Hilo, extended a most hearty welcome to the visitors in the name of the city and church of Hilo as well as her residents. He then read a letter of welcome from William McKay, president of the Hilo board of trade.

In his usual happy way, Rev. John M. Lydgate of Kauai responded to this welcome. First in Hawaiian and then in English, Mr. Lydgate said that he and all the delegates were very glad to be in Hilo. He himself was born here, and was, therefore, able to say that personally he knew what he was talking about when he boasted that Hawaii was not only the largest island of the group, had the highest mountains, but her people had the biggest hearts of any island of the group.

Endeavor Movement Fostered.
At the first session of the Hawaiian board the business was more or less of a routine nature, which did not take much time. The associations of the Christian Endeavor and Sunday schools held afternoon meetings. Great progress is to be noted in the work of both of these organizations. President W. H. Rice of Kauai said he never felt more encouraged over the outlook of the Sunday schools of the territory, while Rev. Akako Akana expressed himself as believing that the greatest advance in the work of the Endeavor Societies was right at hand. He proposed an excellent plan for enlarging the work of the endeavor movement by having the junior and intermediate societies started all over the territory for the special care of the younger members and having the active society also accomplish much more in the future than in the past, and that the older members should devote their attention specially to the operations and activities of the church itself.

A feature of the meetings of this conference which has attracted a great deal of attention from the delegates and large attendance is the hour of devotional service followed by a discussion of vital questions. In the hour of devotions able speakers had been secured for the program: Rev. George Laughton upon "The Expression of Spirituality," Rev. E. E. Pleasant, "The Sources of Spiritual Life," and Rev. John M. Lydgate, "The Need of Spirituality." For the hour on discussion four or five speakers of different nationalities have discussed the topics of the day, which were as follows: "How to Maintain Our Church in Face of Competition of Other Religions," "Inter-Racial Cooperation," "Strengthening the Churches." An early morning daily prayer meeting has been the outlet for much devotional spirit that has been manifest in all the sessions.

Singing is Splendid.
Another feature of this conference which is more marked than ever before in the association is the remarkable singing. At the First Foreign church on Friday afternoon the choir rendered beautiful music, and at the Sunday school exhibition on Saturday morning the choir and Sunday schools from all parts of the territory sang exceedingly well, while at the Sunday school banner contest on Monday night there was the most wonderful exhibition of Sunday school competitive work ever seen in the islands. Oahu carried off the handsome silk banner which was offered this year for the first time. Special assistance to the singers was given on the various islands so that an excellently trained chorus from each was present. The singing also at all the regular meetings has been very fine. An attempt seemed to be made also to learn some of the hymns not usually sung at such gatherings.

On Wednesday evening the Christian Endeavor rally and installation of officers occurred. Rev. Akako Akana was again installed president in the office he has filled so remarkably well in the last few years. At this meeting Miss Nora Caborn, the newly appointed extension secretary of the Honolulu Bible training school, delivered the principal address, which was listened to with closest attention. Her theme was "Putting Christ First." Other speakers were Rev. Messrs. Loto, Le-sha, Timoko and Iaea. At the close of the meeting, which was very largely attended, the Kaahumanu Society served ice cream and cake.

MAY ABANDON INTER-ISLAND SONG CONTESTS

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
HILO, July 7.—The closing day of the Conference of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association here was a busy one. A large amount of work was carried through in the short session of Thursday morning. Rev. Frank S. Scudder and Mr. Theodore Richards resigned as the Committee on the Inter-Island Singing Contest. Their action was a disappointment to the members of the association, who had become greatly interested in the progress of this contest year by year. Mr. Richards stated that the purpose of the contest was to increase the efficiency of the church singing throughout the islands. This purpose was now attained and would be constantly in the minds of the people in our churches because the Sunday schools had instituted a similar contest, the first prize of which had been carried off by Honolulu in the Monday evening Sunday school competition. A second reason for the abandonment of the Inter-Island Contest was the increasing numbers of delegates and people attending this conference. It was a difficult matter to care for so many. Their resignations were accepted with regret and by a rising vote the committee members were most heartily thanked for the service they had rendered.

lawyer's office the clerks made bets as to how she would take it. One thought she would scream, two were of opinion she would burst into tears, two others favored hysterics. Her reply to the message was disconcerting:

MILLS COLLEGE OAKLAND, California

The high quality of the work done at Mills College is indicated by the fact that undergraduates transfer to the University of California and Stanford without loss of status, their credits being accepted at full unit value. There have been students among those transferred to Stanford who have been appointed to assistantships and readerships before securing the bachelor's degree, as well as during their year of graduate work. Typical instances are: Celeste Young, resident in history; Josephine Cressy, assistant in German; Rachel King, assistant in mathematics.

Graduates of Mills College secure their second degree and their teacher's certificate at the University of California in one year. Dora Lemon, B. S., Mills 1917, M. S. California 1914, is an instructor in biology in the Fresno Normal School; Joyce Lobner, B. L., Mills 1913, M. L., California 1914, in English in the Auburn Junior College. Farther afield, Mills College graduates have distinguished themselves as holders of scholarships and fellowships: Charlotte D'Evelyn, Mills 1911, Graduate Scholar in English at Bryn Mawr 1912-1915, and Mary E. Garrett, European Fellow at Oxford 1915-1916; Florence Hager, Mills 1913, Graduate Scholar in Romance Languages at Bryn Mawr 1914-1916; Hope Lobner, Mills 1915, Graduate Scholar in History at Radcliffe 1915-1916; Ithea Netter.

Mills 1916, Graduate Scholar in Sociology at Bryn Mawr 1916-1917.

In the so-called vocational subjects Mills College has also received significant recognition; its graduates in home economics and physical education are granted a teacher's special certificate by the State Board of Education which authorizes them to teach in the high schools of California without further training or examination. Ethel Bonzone, Mills, B. S. 1915, Columbia, M. A. 1914, has been since 1914 the instructor in charge of domestic arts at the University of Missouri. She taught in the University of California Summer School in 1915.

California Branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, feeling added interest and pride in Mills College because of the appointment of one of its members, Aurelia Henry Reinhardt (A. B., Cal. Ph. D. Yale), to the presidency desires to call attention to the high standard of scholarship of this college, which promises to offer to the Pacific Coast the same opportunities furnished by the well-known colleges for women of the Atlantic States. As the Association of Collegiate Alumnae was founded in part for "the publication of information concerning education and its progress for the maintenance of high standards of education," the Educational Committee of the California Branch helps to fulfill this purpose by presenting the enclosed facts about Mills College.

THE CALL OF THE FUTURE

The world is calling the children to fit themselves for the greatest opportunity which any age has ever offered. This is not the world of yesterday. It is a world in which the outlook of life has completely changed in a few brief weeks. The hope of the future lies in the children of America, if only they are ready and prepared to grasp their unparalleled privileges. The world is calling your child to do his or her share in the great work of a new civilization, new discoveries, inventions and mastership.

Put THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE into their hands. It lays the foundation of a well-rounded and practical education for life. It contains all the important knowledge of the world, arranged and indexed on an entirely new plan, especially adapted to growing minds. Give your children THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE habit of finding out for themselves everything they want to know. It will teach them to open the doors of the universe, stimulate their imagination and invention and create a desire for independent investigation.

Partnership Between Home and School

A great deal of fault has been found with schools of late. "After eight years of training in the elementary schools, the average boy or girl is not fitted for anything practical," says a distinguished schoolman. Let us stop for a moment to consider that the education in the home is of even more vital importance than the education in the schoolroom. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE creates the partnership between the home and school on which all successful education so largely depends. It fulfills the prime law and psychological necessity of INTEREST. Children are captivated by THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE, the first practical Encyclopedia for the young.

THE ILLUSTRATED FREE BOOK, "The Child and the Book of Knowledge," written by the Editor in Chief of THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE, explains the different departments of this work, their use and meaning and the necessity for it in the education of the child. It also contains 250 tremendously interesting questions taken from thousands answered in this work, with pictures and colored plates.
